The status of those who have been arrested or forcibly abducted:

According to the legal axioms, in terms of arrest, the accused is arrested when the accused complies with all the legal standards, including the submission of a court document, notification to the family, access to medical services, access to legal assistance and lawyer, and detention in the shortest possible time, explain the charges, and transferring to one of the official prisons in the list of the country's prisons organization.

What happened during the Jina revolution, according to Article 2 of the Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance, is a dangerous criminal act that is criminalized in international criminal law. Although the Iranian government has not joined this convention, the definition and examples of this criminal act have mostly taken on a customary aspect and governments are required to comply with it.

It is worth mentioning that even according to the minimum laws of the Islamic Republic, the defendant has these rights. But what we see in practice is the violation of all international legal standards by government forces in this field.

Following the passing of more than 5 months of protests, more than 7500 Kurdish citizens have been arrested and abducted by security agencies, and currently, the Hengaw research team can verify the identity of 2167 of them. Out of these 2167 people, 220 are women and 191 are children and teenagers.

It needs to be clarified, based on the investigations, Hengaw was informed that the detainees are subjected to physical and mental torture systematically.

Kurdistan province (Sanandaj) ranks first with 776 arrests out of a total of 2167 citizens whose identities have been verified. Also, the provinces of West Azerbaijan (Urmia) with 660 cases, Kermanshah with 360 cases, and Ilam with 290 cases are placed next. In the central cities of Iran, at least 81 Kurdish citizens have been abducted by government institutions.

Based on the statistics of Hengaw, the highest number of abducted citizens is recorded in the cities of Sanandaj with 334 cases, Piranshahr with 143 cases, Oshnavyeh with 126 cases, Mahabad with 126 cases, and Abdanan with 108 cases.

Judicial status of detainees

Based on the statistics registered in the Hengaw Statistics Center, out of the total number of people who were arrested during the Jina Revolution in Kurdistan, at least 111 have been sentenced to imprisonment and whipping, and one person has been sentenced to death by the judicial system of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

According to this report, 111 of these people have been sentenced to a total of 343 years and 3 months in prison, and Mohammad Mehdi Karami, who was sentenced to death, was executed in one of Karaj's prisons.

Also, 20 of these people have been sentenced to a total of 1076 lashes by the judicial system of the Islamic Republic, in addition to imprisonment.

In addition to these cases, at least 9 people were arrested in Kurdistan, called Parham Parvari from Saqqaz, Pouria Javaheri from Kamiyaran, Farhad Tahazadeh, Farzad Tahazadeh, Faryad Hamzeshur, Shahram Marufmolla, Reza Eslamdoost, Karvan Shahiparvaneh, and Farzad Mahmoudpour, all from Oshnavyeh, were accused to "Moharebeh and corruption on Earth", and this charge in Iran's judicial system can lead to death for the mentioned people.

Missile attacks on Kurdish parties and the death of at least 21 members of the parties

During the Jina revolution, in addition to the large massacres that the Islamic Republic started in the cities of Kurdistan, at least three times it attacked the camps and headquarters of the Kurdish parties "Democrat, Komala, and PAK" in the territory of the Kurdistan region with missile and drone. As a result of the attacks, at least 21 Peshmerga and members of these parties died, including two women, a one-day-old child, and an ordinary citizen from Koye, Erbil Province.
